Musings

Only a week to go and it will be the start of Advent. Then all the razzmatazz of the run-up to Christmas will start. It feels as if the shops have been celebrating Christmas for the las 3 months, but with the beginning of Advent the Christmas trees will go up and the Christmas lights will be switched on and the countdown will start in earnest. In church the flowers go and the Advent wreath appears. One more candle lit each week until Christmas Day itself

Over the Advent period we look forward to Christmas and the birth of the baby Jesus. We also look forward to when Jesus will come again. On this Sunday, the last before Advent, we celebrate Christ the King. We remember that Jesus as well as being the Baby in the manger is also the King of Heaven. And when he returns we shall see him in his glory, shining brighter than the sun. King of kings and Lord of lords. Then God's rule will be over all the earth and, as the angels sing, there will be peace on earth.

We look around our troubled world and see wars and violence and unspeakable crimes. There are so many people suffering and so many in need it is easy to despair and think that things will never get better. But we have Jesus's promise that he will return and so we know that all will be well. God's kingdom will come and his will be done when Christ the King reigns on earth.
