Musings

It is the end of August already. According to meteorologists this marks the end of summer and the beginning of autumn. Some people do not like autumn, they feel it is a time of endings when the leaves fall from the trees and the flowers in the gardens begin to fade. For others, autumn is a time of beauty. They love the change of colours on trees and bushes and the growth of fruit. Different ways of looking at the same events.

Certainly September is a time of change. The new school year begins. We see the children on that first day of term, especially if starting a new school. The nervous faces. The sleeves on the school jumpers a bit too long and the coats a bit too big, but they will have grown into them by the end of winter. The excitement of older students beginning college or university, perhaps leaving home for the first time. The start of a whole new chapter in their lives.

And our churches too are entering a time of change as we await the arrival of Rev Pippa, our new Rector. We look forward to welcoming her into our communities. We look forward to getting to know her as she gets to know us. We look forward to fresh ideas to help us grow God's kingdom, here in our corner of Shropshire. Our churches have seen many changes over the centuries, changes of rector but also in our buildings and our liturgy and ways of worship. But through it all, in the centre is our one unchanging God. The same yesterday, today and for ever. Our God who is always a willing listener to our prayers and who answers them. Our God who is with us through all the changes in our lives, good and bad. God who loves us with an unconditional love, always.
